PREFACE

This Catalogue provides a listing of the publications being issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on the results of the 1966 Census of Canada, relating to the Censuses of Population and Agriculture.

The 1966 Census of Population, in contrast to the full-scale decennial Census of 1961, contained only a minimum number of basic inquiries (i.e., sex, age, marital status, relationship to head of household, structural type and tenure of dwelling). Although the questions were few, the 1966 Census of Population provides valuable benchmark information at the mid-point between decennial censuses. These data include up-to-date counts and distributions of population for all types of geographical areas, trends in the marital status, age and sex structure of the Canadian people, the size and composition of households and families, the home-owner versus tenant status of householders, and the types of dwellings in which Canadians live.

The 1966 Census of Agriculture was more comparable in scope to its 1961 counterpart, although the special inquiries on irrigation were not included in the 1966 Census coverage, and less detailed information was obtained on such items as fruits and vegetables, and farm woodlots. The farm questionnaire in 1966 included inquiries on farm areas and condition of land, acreages sown to the various types of crops, numbers and kinds of livestock and farm machinery, milk production, value of sales of agricultural products, as well as certain items of farm expenditure and farm labour. Thus, the 1966 Agriculture Census provides detailed statistics on the changing structure of farming operations, and most importantly provides these data for small areas across the country (e.g., individual counties and municipal subdivisions).

A new feature of the 1966 Census was the inclusion for the first time on a five-year basis of a Census of Merchandising (retail, wholesale, and service establishments). Whereas the first advance reports containing final results of the Censuses of Population and Agriculture are being issued in the early part of 1967, the results of the Census of Merchandising which is based on a mailing survey in 1967 to cover the complete 1966 business year, will become available commencing in the first half of 1968. Details of the publication programme for the Census of Merchandising will be available at a later date in advance of this expected release period.

Dominion Statistician.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE 1966 CENSUS OF CANADA

Final results of the 1966 Census of Canada relating to Population and Agriculture are being issued in the form of individual reports as the information becomes available. The reports are in four series, as follows:

- (1) Advance Series. — These reports provide advance summary information on specified basic topics.
- (2) Volume Series. — Reports in this main series are so prepared that they can be combined to form the contents of each of five census volumes. A titled cover binder is supplied with orders for the complete set of reports for a given volume.
- (3) Census Tract Series. — Basic population data are issued for each of the larger centres (or metropolitan areas) according to these intra-city statistical areas which have been delineated for cities of over 50,000.
- (4) Special Series. — Reports in this series contain specified materials not included in any of the foregoing series.

In the event that additional reports to those shown in this listing become necessary, they will be issued as supplementary publications in the Special Series. They will be listed in subsequent editions of the Bureau's regular Catalogue of Current Publications.

How to Order

Orders for copies of census publications described in the following pages may be sent either to Publications Distribution, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, or to Superintendent of Publications, Department of Public Printing and Stationery, Ottawa. The order form included in this brochure should be used for this purpose. Regulations require that remittance be made prior to the mailing of the reports required. Remittance should be in the form of a cheque or money order made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. For further information, address your inquiry to the Information and Public Relations Division, Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Orders for reports will be filled when they become available. A deposit account may be established with the Queen's Printer.

Publication Dates

The majority of the final reports of the 1966 Censuses of Population and Agriculture are expected to be issued at periodic intervals during 1967, starting with the Advance Series in the first and second quarters. Most of the Volume Series will be issued during the third and fourth quarters, although a few on population should be available before the end of the second quarter. On the other hand, some of the last reports in the Volume Series on population, households and families, will extend into 1968, as may one or more of the large provincial agriculture reports in this Series. Certain reports in the Census Tract Series will also be in this latter category, as well as most in the Special Series. Every effort will be made to produce the large volume of census results at the earliest dates possible, although problems arising from such factors as availability of tabulations, printing priorities, etc., could affect these target periods.

Availability of Unpublished Materials

To a limited extent, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is able to provide on a cost basis certain materials from the 1966 Census which are too detailed or specialized for general publication purposes.

An example of this is the count of population and households for individual enumeration areas (i.e., the areas covered by each enumerator in taking the census). The cost of these mimeographed materials is 50¢ for all enumeration areas in a given electoral district, or $100 for the complete set of some 36,000 areas in the 263 electoral districts of Canada, including printed descriptions of the boundaries of each enumeration area. They are expected to be available for distribution by about mid-1967.

During the intercensal period after the main results of the 1966 Census have been issued, a limited number of other special counts will be provided on a cost basis. For example, certain basic population classifications (e.g., age, sex, marital status, numbers and sizes of households and families) can be supplied on an enumeration-area basis in the form of either summary magnetic tapes or as computer print-outs. Other materials will be made available as time and resources permit. Inquiries on special material requirements not included in the census publications relating to the Censuses of Population and Agriculture, should be addressed to The Director, Census Division, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa. Requirements relating to the Census of Merchandising on subjects of retail, wholesale, and service establishments should be addressed to The Director, Merchandising and Services Division.
